

Triton Court Finsbury Square, London EC2

Market Sector:
Commercial

The Client:
Galliford Try

Services supplied:
Internal doors & ironmongery

THE PROJECT

MJ Hillson was part of the team (working for contractor Galliford Try) refurbishing the former Triton Court, a project that took more than a year and saw our skilled carpenters fitting all the doors and skirting boards, toilet doors and lobby doors in the core areas, as well as work on the roof and in the large central atrium

THE PROCESS

The refurbishment of such an iconic building was a complicated project, retaining the façade and stretching between eight and 12 storeys. The shape of the site meant that basements and nooks and crannies had to be accommodated, and the logistics of deliveries in this busy area of the City of London were extremely tricky. Perhaps the most exciting part of the project was installing doors opening on to the roof below the well-known sculpture of a figure on a globe.

For further information on our carpentry and joinery services, or for an informal discussion about your project requirements please contact us directly:

M J Hillson Ltd
29 Clophill Road Maulden
Bedfordshire
MK45 2AA

t: 01525 409400
e: enquiries@mjhillson.co.uk
www.mjhillson.co.uk