

Wardour Street London

Market Sector:
Commercial

The Client:
Morgan Sindall

Services supplied:
Internal doors & ironmongery

THE PROJECT

Working with Morgan Sindall, we supplied and fixed the door package on the shell-and-core fitout of this central London office block, as well as window boards. It was a relatively small-scale job but the building was designed with a high proportion of glass, and of course also presented us with the familiar challenge of getting deliveries into the heart of the capital.

THE PROCESS

Over five floors, we installed all the doors on the staircase, plus flush doors on the risers and automatic door-opening systems on the ground floor. This was the most challenging aspect of the job, as each ground-floor door also included a glass element. We also installed 25mm window boards on every single window bay – and there was a lot of glass!

