

UCL Institute for Advanced Legal Studies

Market Sector:
Educational

The Client:
Overbury

Services supplied:
Internal doors & ironmongery

THE PROJECT

This refurbishment project for Overbury is a floor-by-floor phased job (while the rest of the site is live) that is scheduled to last until 2020. We are installing doors, ironmongery and some timber posts and panelling, as well as a toilet area on each floor.

THE PROCESS

We had to co-ordinate with other contractors during the fit-out of the library areas, because the doors we installed to create quiet booths had to be incorporated into a panelled wall, so we needed to design and manufacture components that would align properly. The doors are glazed veneered frames with a fan light and glass manifestation.

