Replacement of two large outdoor decks

THE PROJECT

MJ Hillson were called in by McLaren to refurbish two large areas of decking on the Banham Security HQ in south-west London, a building McLaren originally constructed during the 2010s. Sited between the River Wandle and railway lines, the Banham HQ reflects the residential nature of the local community rather than being totally industrial. The original decking wood had rotted, so Hillsons fitted new composite material.

THE PROCESS

One area of replacement deck was a balcony, and the other was a large open area. Because this was a “live” building, the MJ Hillson team had to be mindful of daily workplace activity. We arranged a scaffold up the side of the building and carried the lightweight materials through the packing staircase. We were able to wrap up the project quickly, completing it between January and February 2024.
